For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced; who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

MISCELLANY.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE GAZETTE.

LORD BYRON.

It was impossible to behold this interesting countenance, expressive of a dejection belonging neither to the rank, the age, nor the success of this young nobleman, without feeling an indefinable curiosity to ascertain whether it had a deeper cause than habit or constitutional temperament. It was obviously of a degree incalculably more serious than that alluded to by prince Arthur—

—— I remember when I was in France
Young gentlemen would be as sad as night
Only for wantonness.

But howsoever derived, this, joined to lord Byron's air of mingling in amusements and sports, as if he contemned them and felt that his sphere was far above the frivolous crowd which surrounded him, gave a stronger effect of coloring to a character whose tints were otherwise romantic. Noble and far descended, his mind fraught with ancient learning and modern accomplishments, the pilgrim of distant and savage countries, eminent as a poet among the first whom Britain has produced, and having besides cast around him a mysterious charm arising from the sombre tone of his poetry, and the occasional melancholy of his deportment, lord Byron occupied the eyes and interested the feelings of all.—The enthusiast looked on him to admire, the serious with a wish to admonish, and the soft with a desire to console. Even literary envy, a base sensation, from which, perhaps, this age is more free than any other, forgave the man whose splendor dimmed the fame of his competitors. The generosity of lord Byron's disposition, his readiness to assist merit in distress, and to bring it forward where unknown, deserved and obtained the general regard of those who partook of such merit, while his poetical effusions, poured forth with equal force and fertility, showed at once a daring confidence in his own powers and a determination to maintain by continued effort the high place he had attained in British literature. This rapidity of composition and publication we have heard blamed as endangering the fame of the author, while it gave such proofs of talent. We are inclined to dispute the proposition—at least in the present instance.

We are sometimes tempted to blame the timidity of those poets who, possessing powers to arrest the attention of the public, are yet too much afraid of censure to come frequently forward, and thus defraud themselves of their fame, and the public of the delight which they might afford us. Where success has been unexpectedly and, perhaps, undeservedly obtained by the capricious vote of fashion, it may be well for the adventurer to draw his stake and leave the game, as every succeeding hazard will diminish the chance of his rising a winner. But they cater ill for the public, and give indifferent advice to the poet, supposing him possessed of the highest qualities of his art, who do not advise him to labor while the laurel around his brows yet retain its freshness. Sketches from lord Byron are more valuable than finished pictures from others; nor are we at all sure that any labor which he might bestow in revisal would not rather efface than refine those outlines of striking and powerful originality which they exhibit when flung rough from the hand of the master. No one would have wished to condemn Michael Angelo to work upon a single block of marble until he had satisfied in every point the petty criticism of that Pope, who, neglecting the sublime and magnificent character and attitude of his Moses, descended to blame a wrinkle in the fold of the garment. Should it be urged that, in thus stimulating genius to unsparing exertion, we encourage carelessness and hurry in the youthful candidates for literary distinction, we answer, 'tis not the learner to whom our remarks apply; they refer to him only who, gifted by nature with the higher power of poetry, an art as difficult as it is enchanting, has made himself master by application and study of the mechanical process, and in whom, we believe, frequent exertions upon new works awaken and stimulate that genius which might be cramped and rendered tame by long and minute attention to finish to the highest possible degree any one of the number. If we look at our poetical library we shall find, generally speaking, the most distinguished poets have been the most voluminous, and those who, like Gray, limited their productions to a few poems, anxiously and sedulously corrected and revised, have given them a stiff and artificial character; which, far from disarming criticism, has rather embittered its violence, while the Aristarch, like Achilles assailing Hector, meditates dealing the mortal blow through some unguarded crevice of the supposed impenetrable armor, with which the cautious bard has vainly invested himself. Our opinion must be necessarily qualified by the caution, that as no human invention can be infinitely fertile, as even the richest genius may be, in agricultural phrase, cropped out, and rendered sterile, and as each author must necessarily have a particular style in which he is supposed to excel, and must, therefore, be more or less a mannerist; no one can with prudence persevere in forcing himself before the public, when, from failure in invention, or from having rendered the peculiarities of his style over trite and familiar, "the veteran lags superfluous on the stage," a slighted mute in those dramas where he was once the principal personage. To this humiliation vanity frequently exposes genius, and it is no doubt true that a copious power of diction, joined to habitual carelessness in composition, has frequently conduced to it. We would, therefore, be understood to recommend to authors, while a consciousness of the possession of vigorous powers, carefully cultivated, unites with the favor of the public, to descend into the Arena, and continue their efforts vigorously while their hopes are high, their spirits active, and the public propitious, in order that, on the slightest failure of nerves or breath, they may be able to withdraw themselves honorably from the contest, with grace, giving way to other candidates for fame, and cultivating studies more suitable to a flagging imagination than the fervid art of poetry. This, however, is the affair of the authors themselves: should they neglect this prudential course, the public will, no doubt, have more indifferent books on their table than would otherwise have loaded it; and as the world always seizes the first opportunity of recalling the applause it has bestowed, the former wreaths of the writers will, for a time, be blighted by their immediate failure. But these evils are greatly overbalanced by timid caution, which bids genius suppress its efforts until they shall be refined into unattainable perfection. And we repeat our conviction that poetry being, in its higher classes, an art which has for its elements sublimity and unaffected beauty, is more liable than any other to suffer from the labor of polishing, or from the elaborate and composite style of ornament, and alternate affectation of simplicity and artifice which characterise the works, even of the first poets, when they have been over anxious to secure applause by reiterated correction. We cannot consider over anxious correction as likely to be employed with advantage upon poems, which, like those of lord Byron, have for their object to rouse the imagination and awaken the passions.

Charleston, Nov. 6.

FROM FRANCE.

By the arrival yesterday of the French brig Venus, capt. Deslandes, in 35 days from Havre, we learn that every thing was quiet in France. Capt. D. brought no papers.

A Havre price current of 26th Sept. quotes Upland cotton at 2f. 40c. a 2f. 65c. American potash 63 a 64f. Pearl ash 75f. Quercitron bark 32 a 33f. St. Domingo coffee 1f. 35c. a 1f. 45c.—All duties paid.

Savannah, Nov. 4.

By the politeness of several gentlemen direct from Amelia, we have been furnished with some later accounts from that place. The state of affairs is still in great confusion; quarrels are continually occuring between the troops of com. Aury and those of col. Irvine. Nothing was apprehended from the Spaniards; and the Patriots appeared to be in no condition to act on the offensive.

On Friday the 25th ult. a schr. arrived from Nassau, N. P. with about 40 officers late of lord Wellington's army, whose object it was to have joined M'Gregor; but on hearing that he had left the place, most of them re-embarked in the Congress, for Venezula. The former captain of the Congress, had been disabled by breaking his thigh, was superceded by com. Parker. A large amount of property was sold on account of government, on Tuesday last, which brought an exorbitant price. Another sale was to take place this day.

[TRANSLATION.]

It having been found that ships bound from Narva to Ravel, for the most part direct their course between the islands of Rodscher and Stencher, so that the Light House erected in 1815 on Cape Lativanem is of little service, considering also the impediments to navigation from the dangerous shoals situated at the extremity of Hogland, and that the upper Light-House on that island is in autumn frequently concealed by fogs which render the light invisible, his Imperial majesty's Government has resolved to remove the Light House from Cape Lativanem to the island of Rodscher, situated—English sea miles to he westward of Hogland (in the original the expression used is nine Italian miles.)

The light on this light house will be 60 feet above the surface of the water; and in imitation of that of Lativanem, will open and shut successively at intervals of three quarters of a minute, by which means it will be sufficiently distinguished from all others in the vicinity of Hogland

The new light will be used for the first time on the first of Sept, 1817, (O. S.)

The French quintal of 50 kilogrammes equal 111 American pounds—a ton of wine 4 casks or hhds—a velte is about 2 gallons.

Another letter—same date.

Cottons, which have been lively for a few days, have again become less so, but without any decline in price; and from the small stock on hand, it is probable the next demand will be accompanied by some advance. Pot and pearl ashes go off with activity at our quotations. Colonial produce of every description continues exceedingly brisk. Rice is still demanded, but there is none in the port.—Grain continues high. Foreign supplies will again be necessary, and government have again renewed the premiums upon grain and flour, and after three months notice shall have been given, so that they will continue to be granted upon all imports into the French ports in the Mediterranean, and to those of the ocean from the frontiers of Spain to Bordeaux inclusive. It is therefore probable that this port will offer considerable encouragement for shipments from America of wheat, and perhaps still more of Indian corn and rye during the winter & spring

Cotton N Orleans 220 a 260; American Flour 55f a 58 per bbl; do wheat 29 a 31f; do rye 19f a 21; do rye flour 38f; do Indian corn 18f a 19; do barley 14f a 18; cream of Tartar 75f a 80; madder root 75f a 80; capers 3f a 4 per lb; brandy American pf 870f a 880 per 50 velts; Languedoc 670f.

Extract of a letter to a mercantile house in this city dated

Antwerp, Sept. 19.

Sugars are getting more lively—for a cargo of grey Manillas 32f 10 was lately paid and 35 would now be obtained. Batavia canisters bring 33f 34. Brown Havannas 52 1-2 a 54f; whites 58 a 41.—The general tendency is for a further use.

Our market for coffee keeps above the neighboring ones.

The demand for pepper has not yet come round—this, however, is the proper season—8 1-2 to 9 1-4 st. asked in entr—no great stock on hand.

Pot Ashes have come down to 25 a 24, and no sale even at these prices.

Prime old Virginia and Maryland Tobacco keeps up—but for inferior sorts and Kentuckys our market offers no great vent.

Rice is selling to the consumers at 27f a 28, and we persist in the idea that if the article falls with you, a few early shipments may deserve attention. A decline will take place in Europe during winter, but our prices we think will always present a handsome margin.

Of cotton we have had no supplies lately. Georgia Upland is firm and selling at 41 44d. Bengal and Surat very brisk at 28 30d. No Louisiana in the market.

Rice 25f on the decline.

Prices Current at Antwerp, Sept 22.

Cotton Georgia Upland 41 a 44; Sea Isl. none; Louisiana do; Tobacco Virg 9s a 15; Md. 9 a 14; Geo and Carol. 8 a 10; Ken'y 7 a 9; Rice 24 a 25; Ashes Am. pot 24f a 25; Quer bark 10 a 11.

Prices Current at Leghorn, Aug. 10.

"Having addressed you on the 16th of July, you will find the annexed price current almost a duplicate of our last. Our leading articles of colonial produce however continue improving, and there have been no fresh supplies from any quarter. Coffee, sugars and pepper seem all to hold out encouragement on a comparison between our net price and the last quotations from your side."

Prices Current at St. Thomas, Oct. 14.

Philadelphia superfine Flour $10 a 11 per bbl; Rye Meal 8 do; Beef 13 a 14 do; Pork 25 a 26 do; Mackerel 8 do; Herrings 4 a 4 1-2 do; Pilot Bread 7 do; Navy Bread 5 do; Soap 12 1-2 a 13 cts per lb; Candles 20 do; Lard 26 do; Codfish $4 1-2 a 5 per cwt; Spermaceti Candles 50 cts per lb; Hams 28 cts do; Cheese 20 a 25 cts do; Pepper, Tea and Cassia plenty, and no sales to be effected.

A long story about love and murder is going the rounds in the northern and southern papers, which we believe to be entirely unfounded, or, at least wilfully erroneous in some of its particulars. A reciprocal attachment is said to have existed between a Miss Pattan, (daughter of col. Pattan) and a young man whose name we do not at present recollect. An unfortunate disposition to intemperance, however, in the young man, severed the bond of affection, and he was forbade the house. Another suitor soon appeared, and successfully prosecuted his addresses. The day for the consummation of the nuptials was appointed. This intelligence reached the ears of the disappointed lover, and roused him to the most horrid purpose of revenge. He waited for the evening on which the holy rites were to be celebrated, and with a borrowed name, and under a specious pretext lured the bride to the door, where he shot her dead in her hymeneal robes. The parties were represented as living in this state. These are the outlines of the story—communicated to some one in the eastern states—and which we relate from memory.

Now, we have conversed with a number of gentlemen from various parts of our state, who never heard of such an occurrence before, or of the parties mentioned. Indeed, an act of such savage enormity would soon have resounded throughout the state, and the perpetrator of such an outrage upon humanity would immediately have been exposed to public execration, and quickly have expiated his crime upon the altar of justice. The same notoriety would attach itself to the act, had it occurred in any of our sister states—at least the public would become acquainted with the fact before a relation of the circumstances could travel some 7 or 800 miles, and then return back again to the source from whence they originated. We may therefore rationally conclude, until the story is more clearly substantiated, that it is the production of a writer who has exercised a traveller's privilege, regardless of the character and feelings of a whole community.

WATERLOO SUBSCRIPTION.

Cornhill, Sept. 23, 1817.

At a meeting of the Committee of Distribution held this day, Brereton Long, Esq in the chair:—Read the following translation of a letter from his Majesty the King of Prussia, transmitted to the Chairman of the Waterloo Committee by the Right Hon. G. H. Rose, his Britannic Majesty's Ambassador to the Court of Berlin:—

"The interest felt by that highly respectable association, the Waterloo committee, in the fate of the wounded soldiers, the widows and orphans of brave men belonging to my army, who fell in the different engagements with the enemy during the year 1815, has been manifested by the very liberal sum of 200,000 rix dollars having been placed at the disposal of Field Marshal Blucher, for their support, as well as by a further grant of 10,000*l* sterling for the particular benefit of those who were deprived of their natural protectors by that ever memorable campaign.

"This contribution has given me the liveliest satisfaction: for it not only dispenses relief to those individuals for whom it was intended; but affords me personally a valuable memorial of the high sense which the English nation entertains of that military renown acquired by my army acting in conjunction with its own.

"I am in consequence induced to testify my sincere thanks to this estimable Committee for its generous sentiments, and have directed Prince Blucher, to communicate in due time all the particulars relating to the application of these benevolent donations.

STATE OF OTAHEITE.

The Marquarrie, Captain Campbell, left Otaheite the 24th of April, with a cargo of betweeen 50 and 60 tons of pork, excellently cured. She also touched at Eimeo, one of the Society Islands, where the Missionaries have latterly dwelt. There is on the different Islands a great quantity of poultry, such as cocks and hens, a few Muscovy ducks, and a number of goats. The Missionaries have a few head of horned cattle, and few sheep, but hogs and the bread fruit constitute the chief dependence of the Island. The banana seems to have been indigenous to the Islands; the sweet tropical potatoe, the pumpkin and lemon, are cultivated with success—and captain Campbell has, we understand, during his late excursion, sown among the Islands, the loquet, the peach and other garden seeds. Cotton is of a spontaneous growth among most or all of the Islands, and its quality very various. The country which was beautiful in itself, has derived luxuriance from its intercourse with the British nation: the aborigines, who but a few years, or indeed but a few months since were cruel Pagans, are now converted to Christianity; their idolatry is past: their wars are at an end; and under the guidance of their Missionary friends and brethren, they promise to become a good and happy people. The inhabitants of Bolabola made capt. Campbell a present of their Deity, which consisted of a log of wood, from five to six feet long, and two or three inches thick, with a number of faces carved upon it. They parted with it as a proof of their reformation, and a token of contempt towards their former prejudices. Pomare has not been re-invested with absolute power: the chiefs are still afraid that he might abuse it, but he is so much the convert to christian principles, that the fear is supposed to be ungrounded: He resides on a small spot, a few hundred yards distant from Taheite, and seems in the enjoyment of perfect content of mind; distributing books to all his countrymen that apply for them, and indiscriminately bestowing his favors upon those who had been enemies, as well as upon his approved friends. In fact, so wonderful has been the change that it may truly be concluded a miracle has been wrought upon the minds of the people.

From a London Paper, Sept. 25.

POLICE, GUILDHALL.

A smart Girl.—Thomas Jefferies, a book-binder, was charged by a watchman with being in Fleet-Street, at one o'clock in the morning under circumstances that made him suppose he had been committing a robbery.

The watchman stated that he saw the prisoner go into a court and try to secrete something under his coat. On searching him he found a woman's large, red, fashionable shawl, and a white swansdown tippet.

The prisoner, who was very much dressed, said that the articles found on him belonged to his wife.

Mr. Alderman Cox, the Sitting Magistrate, asked him if she was present.

The prisoner after looking round the office, said she was. She was accordingly called.

To the great surprise of those present, a most beautiful girl, not more than 16 years of age appeared, dressed in the most fashionable attire.

One of the officers said she was not the prisoner's wife, he only cohabited with her. He had abandoned his wife.

The prisoner said, that he did not think any disgrace could attach to him for abandoning his wife. He did not do it until she had ruined him.

The Alderman—Because she was your ruin you are determined to ruin this young woman. Pray, Madam, what is your name?

My name! is that necessary! give me a piece of paper and pen and ink. I will write it. Being accommodated she wrote Isabella M'Clean.

The Alderman—Have you got parents?

Parents! yes; you mean father and mother, they are living.

The Alderman—Where do they reside?

Reside! is that necessary to be disclosed? in Edinburgh.

The Alderman—That is a large place; in what street?

Street! if you must know—Prince's street.

The Alderman—How long have you been in London?

In London! two years.

The Alderman—What brought you to London?

To London! my business to be sure.

The Alderman—What is your business?

A milliner.

The Alderman—I would advise you to go back to Scotland.

Indeed! I am the best judge of that. I will go when it suits my convenience.

The Alderman—Where do you reside at present?

At present! I have answered all your other questions, but must decline answering this.

The Alderman—What do you know of the articles found on the Prisoner?

They are mine.

The Alderman—How did they come in his possession.

You must know that too! We had some words last night, and he took them and he said he would pledge them.

The watchman said the tippet was in an unfinished state.

Witness. Unfinished state, you fool! every person knows that they wash, and that it is necessary to take the lining out for that purpose. I am sure the Magistrate is sufficiently conversant in ladies' dresses to know that.

The worthy Magistrate lamented that so young a creature should be lost to all sense of shame. From her flippancy that day, and her general behaviour, he was afraid if she did not reform and go to her parents, that the next time she came before a magistrate, it would be as a prisoner.

Witness—I thank you for your advice, and also for your prophecy; but believe me you shall not be a true prophet if I can help it. As to going home to my parents, that is a family affair, and strangers have no right to pry into the secrets of families.

The prisoner was then discharged.

It is asserted in the German papers, as a rumor, that Hamburg is willing to pay an annual sum of 500,000 marks banco to England for the protection of its trade in the Mediterranean. It is also mentioned that Russia is endeavoring to obtain from the different powers of Europe a formal convention, prohibiting the subjects of any state from assisting the South American insurgents with arms, ammunition, &c. To this proposition, it is alleged, England objects, being determined to maintain a rigid neutrality between Spain and her provinces. The manners and customs of the English prevail in Russia. For Sale or Exchange in a rich and flourishing part of Kentucky, near Louisville, on the Ohio. The Tract contains about 250 acres, mostly strong rich Land, 80 or 40 of which are cleared, and under partial improvement, the rest in timber. This land is well calculated for the culture of tobacco, hemp, corn, wheat and flax, part of it being what is called bottom land, of a deep, luxurious, and inexhaustible soil, and part of it upland There are on the Tract, cabins, corn cribs, a smoke house, &c. in the usual style of that part of the country; and within musket shot of the principal improvement is a good mill. The whole is centrally and advantageously situated on Cane's creek, a branch of Salt river (which is navigable for boats) having Shepherdsville on the north, distant about 16 miles, Louisville on the northwest distant 22 miles; Springfield and Beallsburg on the southeast; Bairdstown on the south distant 12 miles; Middleburg on the east distant 8 miles; Shelbyville and Frankfort (the seat of government) on the northeast distant from the former 22 miles; and Middleton on the north distant 20 miles. The country abounds with salt licks.

FOR property in or near the District of Columbia.

A Plantation,

The vicinity of this plantation to Louisville, is a consideration of no small importance, as that town is evidently destined to be the great emporium of the state. The rapid advance in the price of property within a few years, already manifests its improvement, prosperity and wealth.

For further particulars, and for the terms, which will be liberal, apply by letter or otherwise, to the undersigned, at the City of Washington. Title indisputable. The land is now held under a general warrantee.

Potomac Fisheries.

THE proprietors & occupiers of Fisheries on this river, are requested to meet at Brown's tavern in Alexandria on the last Monday in November next, at the hour of twelve o'clock, to agree upon measures for preventing the destructive effects of Tide or Gill Nets, which have been unlawfully set in our waters, and have within the three last seasons so greatly lessened the number of shad and herrings taken at the best landings. It is earnestly and respectfully requested that all interested herein from the mouth of the river upwards, will attend punctually, that we may prepare memorials to the Legislatures of Maryland and Virginia, which are shortly to convene, and that we may act in concert in whatever may be resolved upon, touching a matter of such public as well as private interest.

He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose: had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with cloathing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and, I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber.

John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions
Lowness of spirits
Loss of appetite	Indigestion
Impurity of blood	Melancholy
Hysteric'l affection	Gout in the stomach
Inward weaknesses and debility	Pains in the limbs
	Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.
